The Headingley Detachment has an unendorsed warrant for Marlene Legare stemming from an assault allegation made during a dispute outside in St. Eustache on February 26th, 2006. During the altercation resulting in Marlene Legare being charged for assaulting and for damaging Marlene Legare resides in British Columbia and has yet to deal with the outstanding arrest warrant.

Sgt. Gibbs received a phone call from Marlene Legare on March 13th, 2006 at approximately 11:00am. She was again advised of the arrest warrant and encouraged to deal with the matter as soon as possible. Marlene Legare told Sgt Gibbs that she was not calling from Manitoba and would deal with the matter when she was ready and then hung up. Less than five hours later, Marlene Legare was in Elie, Manitoba confronting it clear to police that any dealing with that the stress she is causing him is delaying her ability to call twelve blocked calls a day.

It is clear that Marlene Bouchard has no intention of dealing with the outstanding warrant as she has ignored requests to deal with the matter and then committed another offence within hours of being told to turn herself in. At this point it appears that Marlene Legare is of no fixed address and has displayed her ability to frequently travel between British Columbia and Manitoba. Marlene Legare does not have a criminal record, but is facing outstanding charges of Assault and Mischief under $5000.

As a result, a second warrant for arrest was obtained to deal with the most recent charges.

Priest delivers sermon of truth

Dear Ann Landers: While visiting an elderly friend of my mother, she asked me if I minded watching Mass on TV with her (I am not Catholic). I told her, "Certainly not. I will probably learn something."

The priest talked about the commandment, Thou shalt not kill. I was fascinated when he said that it is not necessary to use a gun or a knife to kill someone. He said, "You can kill a person's spirit by talking instead of listening or belittling and putting a person down, or by being indifferent to a person's needs — in other words, ignoring him or her."

I then thought of the lonely elderly people I see day after day, who are simply existing in nursing homes. Their families pay the bills and give them gifts that they neither need nor want. They send fancy cards on special occasions when what these older folks hunger for are a few loving words written on a piece of paper or, better yet, a visit and a warm hug.

I looked at my friend and saw that her eyes were filled with tears as the priest continued his sermon. He spoke of the emotionally starved elderly whom nobody listens, making them feel as if they have outlived their usefulness. I then knew that my suspicions were right. This lonely lady whom I was visiting was one of the victims. My heart went out to her.

Ann, will you please bring this powerful message to your readers who may be guilty of killing without realizing it? Thank you, dear friend — A Devoted Reader.

I have emailed my sister and brother and told them that I thought Dad was fine under the circumstances. Was panicking yesterday as feel my brother would be too quick to see him go into a home or worse. He has not seen eye to eye with Dad over the years, and because I am here in Vancouver, want to ensure can have someone is looking into his case to ensure that no doctors make the decision at any point to move him to psychiatric facilities.

That is my biggest fear as I can see that happening if there aren't checks and balances as my sister is easily influenced and been under a lot of strain as we just dealt with my Mom's cancer issue.

As far as I know Dad is only getting sleeping pills, but that I am not certain of. He has recovered from a head infection and his white blood count was very low which puzzled the doctors, almost like he had leukemia. However, he had a complete blood transfusion when he went to emergency to replace the blood he lost at the scene of the fall.

Dad also stated today that he just underwent two days psychiatric testing.

Thank you for the quick response and yes would appreciate someone in Winnipeg be able to monitor Dad's progress and introduce herself to Dad letting him know that she is being sent by Marlene, his daughter in Vancouver – that would please him immensely as I sensed panic in his voice the other day as he fears being put in such a place.

Dear Marlene;

On what bases are the psychiatrist stating your father is unable to live by himself besides the incompetent diagnose? I am sure there is more. What has your brother been told? Ask your brother to ask the psychiatrist(s) for the scientific research that shows that your father is incapable of looking after himself. What tests did the psychiatrist(s) base his/her reasons why your father is incompetented? You want to see the tests and the results.

You also need outside help from people who can state that your father is perfectly capable of looking after himself. A priest or minister, MP or MLA who knows your father. Is there anyone who lives close by who can state that your father is not incompetent and that he is capable of looking after himself. You may require a doctor to look at the tests and analysis the tests him/herself and administer the tests again to see if they get the same results.

Is he on any psychiatric drugs?

Can you get out to Winnipeg or talk to your brother not to be so hasty? Can the family afford a lawyer to fight for your father's rights?

As a prudent businessman, Andy should have registered Dad's Life Estate as per their original agreement. Why did Andy not do that? What was his intentions? To "screw" his Dad the first opportunity he got? Because Dad can be easily influenced and naive to his son's evilness?

Answer Marlene

And what was that written agreement that Andy, Claire and Lynda, Angie and Dad and myself all signed January 30, so your word is not your word or your written word not good. That is a contract in case you don't know and can be upheld in a court of law. Andy told Mike Slegers "that he changed his mind" after giving him a verbal handshake, looking him straight in the eyes and saying that he would not move Dad. Mike has taken this personally and has told Andy that his word is shit now! And Mike was the wrong guy to cross.... Marlene

- Let Dad make a list of things he feels need immediate repair. He can show it to Andre with a mediator present (Roland? Lawyer? Etc.) and they can agree, in writing, as to what is 'structural' and what is Dad's 'preference' and he should pay for.

> The items I listed were minor but important. I.E. cold water tap that dripped in his bathroom, a wrench he uses to run his shower, linoleum, two very small pieces that you can get as yard-ends, probably $20 for both, adjust the sensor light in the front of the house as you have to step out 10 steps (and could potentially trip on a cat, or other) before it goes on, change the back light for the same reason to a sensor one, if, if out of nothing but the goodness of his heart, Andy could replace the washer/dryer antiques to a stacking one, (used is perfect) so Dad does not have to haul his water from one room (boiling water) to the laundry room in that little miniature washing device, or spill water on floor and slip, and slipping, well the little matt on the front step is slippery and he could slide on that, and because Andy said the "Whole place is a fire hazard" then maybe he can ask himself why and at the very least install one fire extinguisher. And as you guys took the liberty to move everything out, after signing a written agreement stating Dad could stay, well thank you - now it would be nothing to throw a fresh coat of paint throughout, wouldn't you agree. Tell me, was that grounds to disrupt an 82 year old from his home to do these improvements (that by the way have fallen by the wayside for 5 - 6years, so high time as landlord to "maintain" the place".

Marlene

Also, Andy is lying stating that I was "moving in with Dad", in thisforsaken 46 degree below hole, don't think so, got green grass in my front lawn, a family and a business, he must be "confused" or delusional, he should get some help!!!! Or that I am after Dad's money! Get real, Andy is the one who was at the law firm and with the power of attorney he tricked Dad into signing against his will and without his consent, Andy used that to initiate a claim suing the church - which they are all pissed off at him now for doing....and then midstream, Andy causes Dad to change his lawyer, so you can bet there will be major legal bills for Dad, now that the first lawyer had already gotten two replies from the adjusters, so instead of the contingency fund, now Dad will be forced to pay this out of his pocket - or rather that is Andy's bill as there would ZERO CHARGE if they weren't successful, but by moving it, the services will now be billed $200 an hour - so Andy has the resources he tells me, he can pick up the tab.

Speaking of resources, Andy had a young fellow fired because he impersonated a lawyer and I could hear Andy in the background. Milnar Industries, 237-4881, Curtis was the guy & later called again from 237-4314. I reported this to the RCMP, and the President, Don of the refrigeration place said it was enough to cause him a heart attack all that was going on and he fired the guy, who when asked his name, repeated tall, dark and smiley, and told me Andy had more resources than me (doubt that, I have support unlimited) and that I was opening up a big can of worms, and he initiated a call asking me to come in for a job interview for a position, and looks like he is now looking for a job! Poetic justice!

Marlene

A father has to "sue" his son - how sick is that. The Bible, Exodus 20:12 says honour your father, and what about honour your word Andy....your sure are on the wrong side these days, and it is despicable what you have put your father through these past weeks because of your greed!

> Too late, I have done that and that is why Bruce Jamiesen is now involved. Bruce told Andy to shut up at the manor and let DAD answer his own questions

Contrary to your lie last night Lynda, Bruce did not tell me to go home and leave Dad alone....nice lie.....but go ahead, keep filling Dad's head with bullshit and lies and the pile will eventually bury you!

> - Also, if Dad is willing, now might be a good time for Dad to give a copy of ALL his financial affairs, insurance policies, etc. to his Executors, while it's all (?) out in the open anyway, or to his POAs.

Marlene

Andy caused a young guy to loose his job this week at Milnar Industries (a refrigeration place) because he called me up for a position, and wanted me to come out (as if I will fall for that) and then admitted he was acting for Andy because Andy wanted to work things out....I felt this was not lawyer, and called back to their firm, only to find it was a refrigeration place. Spoke to the President, Don, who said he was about to have a heart attack that day, and said he had a good idea it was one of three guys and he would fire their butt. Then Curtis called back and said "You really opened up a can of worms, you will be sorry now..." because when I called back, the boss told me he had given Curtis till 4:00 p.m. exactly 22 minutes to clear out and he said Andy was there to witness the results of his actions, now this guy doesn't have a job.....nice play Andy!

When Andy later dropped in the Chicken Chef in Elie, at 4:30 p.m. I asked him if he had a job for Curtis now that he had gotten him fired, and he walked out. He ran into Christian Bernardin from Elie and she said he was beside himself, upset, and she asked him what was wrong and he said "Marlene!" and made the sign, like slitting his throat! That is a threat right there, what does he mean by that comment anyway? think he needs help!

Then I proceeded having supper with Uncle Laurent Houde, 353-2293 and Uncle Laurent was upset because Andy kept circling the restaurant with his truck... We were sitting in front with windows on three sides, and he kept asking me "What is he doing, if he wants to talk to us, he can come in." Andy circled, and hid behind the pumps but we could see the front of his pickup, and then to the other corner of the building, hiding, but again we could see the front of his pickup and he was on the cell the whole time. Then Uncle Laurent left at 7:10 p.m. and Andy drove off like to Portage on the Highway and returned coming from 248 North and hid behind the restaurant. Uncle Laurent was so mad at him he pulled his truck up to Andy's and said "What the fuck are you doing?"

Marlene

Andy said, while on the cell, "I don't know, I don't know, I don't know." because he was shocked Uncle Laurent was mad enough to confront him. Then he asked Uncle Laurent "Where is Marlene?" and uncle Laurent said in the restaurant. Uncle Laurent said that Andy then drove his truck directly in front of the restaurant and flashed his lights inside the restaurant. At that point I phoned the RCMP to get an escort on the #1 to Winnipeg and waited. I was told they called Andy.....and his comment "Oh, I was "concerned about Marlene",,,, so concerned that for 2 3/4 hours he stalked me outside the restaurant, how concerned is that or did he have another evil agenda in mind? Makes you wonder, doesn't it???

Then according to Dad last night, Andy arranged for Gary Porteous to have him take Dad to his home in Elie to sleep there, because it was "safer"....from what, Dad could not answer that! So another night away from his perfectly comfortable home eh Doreen? What up with that? And tell me why the chain on his door, no one else in the manor has one, in fact, no one locks their doors, let alone place a chain, what paranoia have you inflicted on Dad so he can be scared? That is senior abuse folks and mind playing!

Doreen,

Your memory I have proven is not the best. That is another bald face lie.
That was in 1980's. How, pray tell would I have been privy to Dad's motorhome.
You ARE confused! Where is that note, put your money where your mouth is.

Marlene

Is it like the note Mom showed me last week, on purple paper, (which is totally unprofessional and which I never would use) and tried to say it was me and was as sick as the obituary Leona stated I had done up for Mom (Leona that was so sick!!! and demented)anyways someone twisted slipped a typed letter into one of the dresser drawers in Mom's spare bedroom and tried to pin it on me. It stated an account split between 9 (meaning nine kids), less a supper and Free Press $500 - the account being $19,xxxx - balance to each child $2,xxx. Who in their sick demented mind would do something so sick to Mom when she is fighting chemo.

Let me remind you no-minds, that I again flew from Vancouver between Christmas and New Years, booked her an appointment January 3 to the Houston Texas Cancer Clinic when you guys had told me she was as much as gone, only 2% chance to live and you where all besides yourselves. So again, money not even an issue, you guys seem to make that your God, I came out and flew with Robert and Mom and was away from home three whole weeks, away from my clients again in RRSP season and today Mom is alive. That is MY REWARD.

I also, paid for a trip for Dad to Alaska, at my expense, less $300 from the family, and got him a suitcase and clothes, etc., for him. So don't say I don't do anything for Dad, you selfish people!

Aunt Peggy will have to increase her 1 1/2 sleeping pills to two when all the truth comes out when she finds out how deceived she was by you guys....

Lynda, take a look at your comment last night "She won't come around as long as someone is around." Is that why Aunt Peggy was there from 5:05p.m. until the changing of the guard at 10:05 p.m. talking about her 32 year old marriage with a drunk, and having Dad "rehash" his issue with Mom, how healthy is that. And Lynda standing guard today instead of being at work? How healthy is that? And telling Dad that I am after his money. Another lie, better look at Andy and his claim. And more lies, saying I wasn't invited to my son's wedding, what has that got to do with Dad, I have my son's invitation, I had chosen for my own reasons (and none of your business anyway) not to attend and I replied to the invitation card in that manner...

Lynda, contrary to your lie again, I have spoken to Mr. Legare and he agrees that Dad belongs at home and is sickened with what you guys are doing.

Lynda, I have all the tricks and "I could be listening right now, as we speak?" Interesting, a little paranoia possibly?

Then talking about Richard Beaudry and his work all over, and Legault, and no I was not staying in Wilfred Legault's room. Also, guess I have to contact Patrick Houde and find out when he gave me shit about staying in Aunt Yvette's room. Uncle Laurent has himself not even seen Patrick for weeks. Another lie Lynda.

Lynda, glad to hear the room is well insulated and warm, isn't it, real comfy? That way you won't hear Dad snore. And for your information, when someone is calling in Winnipeg at 3:00 a.m. on a Saturday night, it is only 1:00 a.m. in Vancouver when people return from evenings out. What is wrong with that?

Lynda, you told Dad repeatedly I was in "trouble in B.C., big Trouble" to Dad. I must be missing something. What big trouble? Too bad no one told me.

Lynda, hold off that bottle of champagne, chill it past March 13, will tell you when you can crack it open!

Thank Aunt Peggy for her liberal thinking, that contrary to the poison you filled Dad with, that it is perfectly okay for women nowadays to rent cars. (Maybe not for women in Winnipeg, but certainly in the rest of the world, so maybe you guys should get with it!)

Lynda, you told Dad that I wanted "to burn the place down". You darn well know I never said that but rather, I stated that in the unforeseen event that Dad's place should ever burn down, that in the Life Estate agreement with Andy that there be a clause that should the place burn, and heaven's I am not suggesting arson by Andy here, that would be unthinkable!, that Andy would be required to rebuild immediately so Dad could continue enjoying his Life Estate Agreement that is currently required to end this dispute and to which Andy deliberately refused to register on title to protect his Dad's rights.....

I will not rehash this again, as it is simple, give Dad his rights, legally and return him to his home immediately.

And I will fly out of your hair, permanently, and trust me you guys have shown me your true colours, I have no desire to associate with family who can so
