

Statement from Marlene Legare, daughter from Maple Ridge, B.C.

April 12, 2008

When Dad came in from spending time alone outside, this after receiving very disturbing threats on his cellular from his daughter, Lynda Staub, of Winnipeg, it was obvious he was physically shaken from the lies and accusations!. As he walked to his bedroom, he mentioned that his shirt was wet with perspiration and that he had to go change.

The next day, complaining of a sore back, my father - still shaken, asked me to take him to the Care Clinic here in Maple Ridge immediately after church whereby the on duty physician confirmed that his blood pressure was extremely high. It had been normal the day prior to this incident as Dad takes his blood pressure regularly having recently purchased a blood pressure machine while on holidays in the States.

Dad was concerned about his heart as he mentioned to me the day before that Lynda and other siblings had been bullying and manipulating him for years, and in his words "they are trying to give me a heart attack!"

My father carries "nitro pills" in his wallet as a precaution but has never had any heart problems.

Concerned about my father's reaction to this intimidation and continued abuse by his daughter and other family members which escalated noticeably after his slip and fall on ice in December 2005, at which time my brother made it very clear to me that our father would never be returning home, that I played the message Sunday night to his attorney in Winnipeg, whereby he advised turning the tape over to the RCMP before Dad has a heart attack and in order to ensure his is not threatened and to ensure his safety when he returns to Elie, Manitoba, his home all his life, this now after having had to commence litigation against his son to regain what is rightfully his and has been stolen from him over the years!

Also a very real concern is that my brother and sisters try to make good their threats to have my probation revoked by trumping up a created situation, as they have learned to do so well and have gotten away with it quite often in the past using lies and false accusations or by manipulating our father once he returns to Manitoba, through medication, which my father admits occurred on at least once occasion, on the day he was dragged to court February 15, 2006, of which he has no recollection of attending the courtroom, when my brother tried unsuccessfully to obtain No Contact orders against myself which where dismissed for lack of evidence, this also the same day my brother and sisters chose to evict our father from his home of over 50 years!

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

On Saturday, I observed Lionel Bouchard sitting outside on the deck for over an hour after retrieving on his cellular phone several very disturbing and utterly outrageous threats from his daughter Lynda Staub!

Mr. Bouchard seemed to be bewildered and had a strange and lost look on his face.

He continued to sit outside but I could tell that phone call had upset him so much he just didn't seem to know how to take and handle such mean and hurtful lies from his own daughter.

He was actually shaking. This seemed to really have blindsided him and broke him up like his heart was just torn out that his own daughter Lynda would go to such lengths to continue to try to control and manipulate him.

I was concerned enough about his reaction to the phone call that I feared something might be physically wrong with him, so I told his daughter Marlene Legare to make sure he was okay.

You could see on his face he had never been in that situation before. He just couldn't believe what he had just heard. It's one thing to have lies thrown at you, but these types of lies from your own daughter for any reason just to get what she wants is simply quite disturbing and shows not only desperation but borders on dangerous.
