To Whom It May Concern,

My name is Joe Bouchard. I am Lionel Bouchard's younger brother.

My wife's name is Rose and we live in New Westminster, British Columbia.

The past four years Lionel has lived in constant fear from his son Andre Bouchard and his two daughters Lynda Staub and Claire Demery, three of his nine children, who live in Manitoba.

Lionel has a life estate agreement with his son Andre but Andre does not want to honour his life estate agreement with his father since his father took a fall on ice in January 2006.

Andy just wants his father off his property in order to sell the property for a greater value than if he the small farm home was not occupied by his father.

Andy has resorted to fear and pressure tactics, constant lies to deceive his father as he wants his father gone and has tried to commit his father to a psychiatric ward several times.

Andy and his sisters are now trying to make their father a ward of the public trustee in order to void Lionel's rights that way Andy can bypass the caveats on the property that Lionel was able to register after he was kicked out of his home.

This abuse has to stop. My brother is going to be 87 years old in January. He raised Andy plus eight other children. The property Andy virtually gave his son and now his son can't even honour his agreement!

Rose and I fear that my brother can suffer a heart attack because of all the stress that has brought to him by his son and daughters.
